All the world's a stage,

And all the men and women merely players:

They have their exits and their entrances;

And one man in his time
plays many parts,

His acts being seven ages.

Building Named for E. M. Singleton

The Administration Building at USC-Coastal Carolina College was officially named in honor of Coastal Carolina Chancellor Edward M. Singleton in ceremonies at the college on September 28, 1982.

Singleton, who announced plans to retire from his position as the head of the school at the end of the Spring 1983 academic year, was recognized for his educational and community achievements at a public ceremony Tuesday, Sept. 28 on the portico of the Administration Building. At the ceremony a portrait of the Chancellor was unveiled and the building was officially renamed as the Edward M. Singleton Building in honor of the man who has headed Coastal Carolina College for almost 20 years.

The Coastal Carolina College Alumni Association proposed renaming the Administration Building and the proposal was approved by the Horry County Higher Education Commission. The Administration Building was the first structure erected on the campus of USC-Coastal Carolina College after the college moved to its current site near Conway in 1962. Coastal Carolina College was created by the Coastal Education Foundation in 1954, but did not affiliate with the University of South Carolina until 1960. Edward M. Singleton became director of the college in 1963, and was later named chancellor.

When Singleton moved into his office in the college Administration Building, in 1963, Coastal Carolina College consisted of one structure, a handful of faculty and approximately 100 students. Today, the college is a four-year USC campus with nine structures, 115 faculty and more than 2,500 students.

$2.1 Million Science Building Dedicated

E. M. Singleton

The new 2.1 million dollar science building was dedicated Tuesday, October 26, 1982. The 35,000-square-foot structure contains 12 teaching laboratories, eight classrooms, 23 faculty offices, research facilities, a darkroom, an electron microscope room, an instrument room, and supply facilities.

The keynote speaker at the dedication ceremony was Dr. Richard H. Kropschot, The Associate Director for Basic Energy Sciences in the Office of Energy Research at the Department of Energy in Washington. Kropschot is responsible for planning and coordinating the overall content and future direction of the various basic energy sciences programs, which include research in the physical and biological sciences, applied mathematics and engineering.

"The new science facility gives us greater flexibility and allows us to provide new kinds of learning experiences to our students," says Dr. Richard Moore, Dean of the School of Science.

"The Science Building greatly enhances our capability for instruction in the sciences," he says. "It also improves opportunities research and it means that students in our community will have an even better opportunity to receive a quality science education at Coastal Carolina College."

Student Mixer / Pig-Picking

As one of the first events on campus each fall semester, the Student Government Association's student mixer/pig-picking provides students with an opportunity to interact with their peers and professors. Mugs of beer and full stomachs generated the loosening of tongues and the establishing of new friendships.

Spring Formal

Christmas Formal

On December 9, 1982 Campus Union sponsored their annual Christmas Formal. The setting this year was 2001 VIP and everyone got into the mood by "decking out" for a night on the town. With 2001 VIP supplying the bouncers and bartenders, it was just like a night out at a club — with only your friends.

Christmas Formal 1983

The chill winds of early December were not enough to keep students from the Christmas Formal. Clever students found their own ways to keep warm by dancing to The Maxx or slipping through the crowds stealing kisses. Mistletoe did not instigate the wild kissing spree, Campus Union did. They promised a free CINO Day T-shirt to the first male and female to secure 50 kisses from 50 different people. Time was not a factor as students warmed up to the task at hand and even continued after Steve Eaddy and Anita Stratton won the prizes.

The Kimbel Distinguished

The Kimbel Distinguished Lecture Series is sponsored by the Kimbel Trust, the Episcopal Diocese of South Carolina, The Sun News of Myrtle Beach, and USC-Coastal Carolina College.

It was created in memory of the late William A. and Maud Kimbel, who were devoted and generous benefactors to Coastal Carolina College and the Waccamaw/Grand Strand Region.

The Kimbel Distinguished Lecture Series was established to make a positive contribution to the college and the community by providing a forum for distinguished lecturers of national stature.

Prior to his present assignment, Mr. Levine spent ten years in Italy, four years in the Soviet Union, three years in Korea and Japan, and one year in England. His NBC News coverage echoes the history of a quarter of a century. Mr. Levine graduated from Brown University with a Phi Beta Kappa Key. He is the author of 16 books, including "Kids Say the Darndest Things," which was a national best-seller. His chief interest today is his work in the crusade against drug abuse.

Lecture Series

Arkady Shevchenko

Former Soviet Ambassador Arkady Shevchenko, the former Under Secretary General of the United Nations, now serving as an advisor on Soviet affairs for the U.S. government, lectured on Soviet subversion and espionage, a Kremlin view of the White House and the succession of power in Moscow, on Tuesday, October 25, 1983.

Shevchenko made international news in 1978, when he broke with the Soviet system and became the highest-ranking Soviet official to ever defect to the U.S. Born in the Soviet Union in 1930, Shevchenko received a Ph.D. in international law from Moscow's Diplomatic Institute, authored a variety of books and articles on diplomatic subjects and rose to a prominent, powerful position in the Soviet government before defecting to the West. He was the chief political advisor to Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko. He held the highest rank awarded diplomats in the Soviet Union.

When Shevchenko fled to the United States from his position at the U.N. in 1978, President Reagan described Shevchenko's defection as possibly "the biggest and most important breakthrough for us since World War II."

James J. Kilpatrick

James J. Kilpatrick, the most widely syndicated political columnist in the United States, spoke at Wheelwright Auditorium on Wednesday, April 6, 1983.

A native of Oklahoma City, with family ties to the American South, he served as editor of the award-winning RICHMOND NEWS LEADER, one of America's major newspapers, from 1951 to 1967. As editor of the NEWS LEADER, he attracted national attention for his thoughtful, incisive editorials.

He became a syndicated political columnist in 1964 and his regular column, "A Conservative View," now appears in 425 American Newspapers. He is also a contributing editor to THE NATIONAL REVIEW and a regular essayist for THE NATION'S BUSINESS. He appeared on CBS-TV's 60 MINUTES for years as the conservative debater on "Point/Counter-point" and he currently appears on the PBS television program AGRONSKY AND CO. He is the author of several books, including the new AMERICAN SOUTH: TOWNS and CITIES. Mr. Kilpatrick lives in Hardscrabble, Virginia, where he is an officer in the Black-eyed Pea Society of America.

Eva Gabor

Eva Gabor, who has had a successful career as an actress-comedienne and all phases of show business, from the legitimate stage to motion pictures, television and personal appearances, appeared in the Wheelwright on April 24, 1984. She made her Broadway debut as the ingenue in Rodgers' and Hammerstein's "The Happy Time," and from there ventured into Hollywood and motion pictures. Eva enjoyed a record-breaking six-year run on CBS-TV by starring in the "Green Acres" series. Today it is one of the most successful shows in syndication.

She was born in Budapest and attended Forstner Girls Institute there and Notre Dame De Sion at Lausanne, Switzerland. Eva was the first of the Gabor sisters to arrive in the United States followed by Magda and Zsa Zsa.

Eva is currently touring the country and expounds on her three lives: an actress, a wife, and a business woman.

FUN, FROLIC, & GALLONS OF DRAFT AUGHT BEER = CINO DAY!

Beer, games, beer, food, beer, and music, are the ingredients of a successful CINO (Coastal Is Number One) Day. This year was no exception. Campus Union was the overseer of the entire day and the bands Jasmine, Stratus, and Lightnin West played for the duration.

ADD TO THAT FIREFALL, GAMES AND THE BUTTERFLY MAN

As CINO Day '84 arrived crowds of students mobbed the gates of Conway High School's football stadium for the 12:30 pm opening of the festivities. After paying a minimal one dollar for the traditional CINO Day cup, students enjoyed free hot dogs, barbeque, and BEER and BEER and BEER! But that was not all to keep them occupied, the Butterfly Man razzled and dazzled his audience with juggling, jokes, and unicycle stunts. While he was not performing, the nationally known recording group FIREFALL played hit after hit. The dunking booth provided more fun as students drenched their favorite(?) professors. And if that was not enough the football field was covered with people playing wild and crazy games.

Spring Arts

Festival

The Spring Arts Festival is a three-day event chocked full of singing, dancing, drama and participatory events. Night performances by visiting artists featured Greg Reynolds and his Dance Quintet and the Charlotte Symphony Orchestra. Special features of the arts festival included a glue-in where visitors were given pieces of wood and allowed to create sculptures; folk dancing where guests were asked to join in; improvisational workshops, nature walks, batik workshops, raku and pottery demonstrations, Shakespearean workshop and poetry symposium, where amateur as well as experienced poets read their works. A Mother Goose walk through Spadoni Park introduced youngsters to Mother Goose characters and a gospel sing added to enthusiasm of the festival goers. Klig's Kites from the Galleria Shopping Center in Myrtle Beach put on a kite demonstration.

Festival organizers believe in the theory that art doesn't exist when it's on the shelf.

ATHENEUM

The ATHENEUM is the largest publication produced by students at Coastal. It serves to document in words and pictures the events of the academic year. Many, many hours are spent on putting together this testimonial to the drive, zest, and exuberance of the students at Coastal. Every event no matter how big or small is a topic of "reporting" by the staff. This edition of the ATHENEUM is a two year book and consists of 216 pages. The only membership requirements to be on the ATHENEUM staff are: 1) Interest, 2) Energy, 3) A desire to work hard, 4) Patience, and 5) a bottle of aspirin for all the migraine headaches.

CHANTICLEER 1983-84

If you had to characterize the CHANTICLEER in one word it would be turmoil. The Fall 1983 editor resigned after the fall semester, the CHANTICLEER went back to being published every two weeks, and spring semester 1984, the CHANTICLEER was not published the first couple of weeks of class due to the process of finding a new editor.

The staff was small and sometimes it seemed almost nonexistent and at times it seemed that deadlines couldn't possibly be met, but somehow the paper reached the stands. To this we wish to thank Martha Wilhoit — Editor Fall '83, Bugs Hill — Managing editor Spring '84, and Ann Sanders — Copy editor — Spring '84.

The Fellowship of Christian Athletes, organized in 1982, works to bring together Christians attending Coastal for fellowship, prayer, Bible study and athletic activity. Another primary function of Fellowship of Christian Athletes is to show students who are not Christians what Christ can do for their lives. Some of the 1982-83 FCA projects were a weekend retreat in the spring, bringing well known Christian athletes to the campus to share what Christ has done for them, and sponsoring a relay run from Myrtle Beach to Charleston to raise money for selected charities. This year FCA sponsored a ski trip in March, a dunking booth, a prayer room and prayer request boxes, and the Christian Contemporary Band, Found Free.

Phi Alpha Theta is an International Honor Society in History. It was organized at the University of Arkansas on March 17, 1921. The Psi Mu chapter of Phi Alpha Theta at Coastal Carolina College was founded in March, 1978. Since then membership has grown every year. They hold an annual banquet for new initiates, attend the state regional convention every spring, and sell printed history lecture notes for many of the history courses offered at Coastal.

STUDENT GOVERN

The SGA is the group that gets a great deal of flack when things don't go to please everyone. But how many of you have ever thanked an SGA representative or officer? And when the SGA held elections how many of you voted? Those who forgot are the ones who will yell and scream about what's wrong with SGA. How about "WHAT IS RIGHT WITH SGA?" SGA consists of people who care about what happens at Coastal Carolina College. "Who else could sit through a boring hour meeting and get things accomplished every week?"

SGA needs the support of all CCC Students to get their job done and to get the administration to listen to our point of view. You have a strong voice in the Student Government, why don't you use it. They urge you to get involved, because they are only as strong as the people behind them.

Thank you to all the SGA officers and representatives.

SOUTH CAROLINA STATE

SCSSL or the South Carolina State Student Legislature is the largest and most effective student lobbying organization in the State. Nearly every public and private college and university in South Carolina send representatives to the Capital every fall. Students write their own bills, present them to committees, and if passed in committee, the bills are introduced to the House and Senate. All bills passed in the Student Legislature are then introduced to the official legislature. It is a very valuable experience because it gives students a first hand knowledge of the legislative process, and its pros and cons.

SIGMA PHI EPSILON

INTRODUCING . . . SIG EP!!!

Sigma Phi Epsilon became the first national social fraternity chartered at Coastal Carolina College. Colonization took place in the spring of 1978, with efforts culminating November 10, 1979, with installation. From the time of colonization, the South Carolina Epsilon members have made their mark on campus. From sponsoring winning candidates in homecoming to having brothers and little sisters involved in other student organizations, Sigma Phi Epsilon has established themselves as being the most active group on campus. Sigma Phi Epsilon is devoted to the promotion of virtue, diligence, and brotherly love among its members. The main purpose of Sigma Phi Epsilon is to help young men develop their character through the brotherhood of the fraternity and to bring out the strong qualities that these young men already have. Highlights of Sig Ep's activities include a surprise party and dinner for the children at the Conway Shelter Home, Superbowl Sunday, the Heart Fund basketball marathon, and their annual camping trip.

“We’ll Win Some, We’ll Lose Some, . . .”

Basketball Coach Russ Bergman couldn’t help but be pleased with the way things turned out for his team this season.

The Chants lost three starters from last year’s team and Bergman knew he had his hands full trying to start over again with only two returning starters.

Looking back now, Bergman can do nothing but smile as his Chanticleers finished their regular season with a 21-9 record. That meant that Coastal would be the host team in the playoffs for the first two games, providing they won their first one.

But that was to never be, for the first night we watched our Chant’s fall to a heartbreaking 51-50 loss to Winthrop. Our season then ended with a 21-10 record.

Chants Show Style

What does a basketball coach do when his two leading scorers graduate? Coach Bergman went out and got a bunch of tall talented players.

This year's team was off to a good start, only with a few defeats. Towards the end of the season the Chants ran into a lot of slim margin defeats.

Every year we are faced with playing our rival, ole' FMC; this year was not our time to be the winners and FMC walked off with the bragging rights.

This year Bergman is hoping for our first District VI Championship, then travel to Kansas City for the National NAIA Championship.

Pic. 1: Jeff Norman looks on anxiously as Rhuel Pringle and an opponent "collide" for the ball.

No. 1

Pic. 1: Sherry Barnhill shoots for two points as Sandra Leach looks on.

The Coastal Carolina Lady Chanticleers were never known as a basketball power or even an above average team, but this year's team was out to change all of that.

Under the direction of fifth year head coach Steve Taylor, Coastal had the best year ever in Lady Chanticleer history.

With mostly local talent, four of the regulars are Horryites, the Chanticleer ladies are proving that Horry County has an abundance of girls' basketball talent. One of the most celebrated players is Sherry Barnhill from Aynor.

Other Horryites toiling for the Lady Chants are Alesia Sander-son of Loris, Sherry Vereen of North Myrtle Beach, and Sandra Leach of Coastal Academy.

Despite a lack of height the Lady Chants have more than held their own on the boards. Barnhill holds the school's record with 26 rebounds in one game and over 20 rebounds a game is not uncommon for her. In addition to the local players, Coastal has also gotten good performances from Georgian Denise Byrd and from Cindy Gordon who hails from Tennessee.

COASTAL CAROLINA'S FIGHT SONG

Lyrics by Professor Randall A. Wells

Coastal Carolina that's the name!
Coastal Carolina wins the game!
Chants are fightin' roosters and Chants are fightin' boosters who
Nobody will tame!

Coastal Carolina that's the name!
Coastal Carolina wins the game!
Keep those claws a slashin' 'em
Keep those beaks a stabbin' 'em
They won't be the same!

Go Chanticleers!
Go Chanticleers!
Go red and black
On the attack!
Just let 'em know
That roosters crow
So cock-a-doodle-do it. Go!

Go Chanticleers!

Chancellor E. M. Singleton Retires . . .

Leaving Coastal Won't Be Easy

Singleton officially retired as Chancellor on June 30, 1983. He has been the chief executive administrator of the four-year branch of the University of South Carolina since 1963. He will maintain an official relationship with Coastal Carolina College as Chancellor Emeritis after his retirement and will serve as a consultant for educational and development matters.

"I love this college and I love this community," he told the assembly. "I know I will miss serving as Chancellor of this institution. However, after almost 40 years in public service, I welcome this retirement."

A native of Horry County, Singleton assumed the leadership of Coastal Carolina College in 1963, when the school consisted of one building, a handful of instructors and approximately 100 students. After his 20 years with the institution Coastal's rapidly expanding campus consists of nine major structures, including the new $3 million Wheelwright Auditorium and the new $2 million Science Building. Student enrollment at the college is nearing 3,000 and the college faculty now numbers 115.

"In the 20 years I have served as Director and Chancellor of Coastal Carolina College," Singleton told his faculty, "I have watched the college develop from a tiny, two year branch of the University of South Carolina to a quality four-year University campus, which I believe makes a major, positive contribution to higher education and to the quality of life in our region of the state."

"In the last two decades," he said, "as I have tried to direct Coastal's development into a mature institution, I have received vital assistance from many people. USC-Coastal Carolina College thrives today as a reputable, progressive institution of higher education greatly because of the many contributions of faculty members, administrators, students and members who worked hard to make that vision succeed."

"My service as Director and Chancellor of Coastal Carolina College has been a major fulfillment of my life. I leave the position of Chancellor with a sense of sadness, but my overwhelming emotion at this time is a comforting sense of pride in this institution; in its spectacular history; in its meaningful contribution; in the many people who have shared in its growth; and to the promise of its future."

"I am grateful to the Coastal Education Foundation, to the Horry County Higher Education Commission and to the USC Board of Trustees for all the assistance I have received from these groups over the years."

"I am grateful that at Coastal Carolina College I have been able to see a dream become reality."

Dr. Fred W. Hicks Selected as New Chancellor

Dr. Fred W. Hicks officially assumed the position of chancellor of USC-Coastal Carolina College on July 1, 1983, after four years of service as president of Wesleyan College in Macon, Georgia. He succeeded Dr. Edward M. Singleton, who retired from the chancellor's position at Coastal after 20 years of service. Dr. Hicks was selected as the new chancellor by a college search committee and the president of the University of South Carolina, following an examination of more than 200 candidates.

A native of Detroit, Michigan, he holds a Ph.D. in Higher Education Administration from the University of Michigan, an M.A. in History from the University of Michigan, an M.S. in Criminal Justice from Rollins College, an A.B. in History from the University of Michigan and an L.H.D. from Rollins College. Prior to assuming the presidency of Wesleyan College, Dr. Hicks was executive vice president of Rollins College in Winter Park, Fla., where he also served for a period as acting president. He came to Rollins College in 1964 as director of student affairs. He was a professor of history, became executive assistant to the president, then executive vice president and for a while served as acting president of the institution.

In the early 1960's, he served as director of financial aid at the University of Michigan and as assistant to the vice president for public relations and development at the University of Michigan. He has served on the Board of Directors of the American Red Cross of Macon; on the Board of Trustees of the Macon Historic Preservation Heritage Foundation and as director of Sun First National Bank of Winter Park. He was chairman of the Board of Trustees of Winter Park Public Library; chairman of the Civil Service Board of the City of Winter Park and was a member of the Board of Trustees of Winter Park Memorial Hospital.

He and his wife, Ann, have two children and now reside in Horry County.

ONE SET OF FOOTPRINTS

One night a man had a dream. He dreamed he was walking along the beach with the Lord. Across the sky flashed scenes from his life. In each scene he noticed two sets of footprints in the sand — one belonging to him and the other to the Lord. When the last scene flashed before him, he looked back at the footprints and noticed that many times along the path there was only one set of footprints in the sand.

He also noted that this happened during the lowest and saddest times in his life. This bothered him and he questioned the Lord: "Lord, you said once I decided to follow you, you would walk beside me all the way. But I noticed that during the most troublesome times of my life, there was only one set of footprints. I don't understand why, when I needed you most, you deserted me." The Lord replied, "My precious child, I love you and would never leave you. During your times of trial and suffering when you saw only one set of footprints, it was then that I carried you."

In Memoriam — Jeffrey Todd Macneir

He bounded onto the College scene in 1980. He said that he had selected USC-Coastal Carolina College only after a Spring and Summer of visits to college campuses, large and small, up and down the southeastern coast. He had even attended Summer orientation sessions on some of those campuses, as he did ours. He grinned that disarming, infectious grin that was to become his trademark — and he said he wanted to be on a campus where he felt comfortable with people. He wanted a small campus, he said, where he could get involved, where he could get to know people, where he could contribute, and where he could have fun.

He said his name was Jeffrey Todd Macneir, and to please call him Todd. That was my introduction to a remarkable young man who was to become known for his enthusiastic and complete involvement in curricular and co-curricular life at the College on virtually a twelve-month basis.

In September 1980, he was elected Freshman Class Representative beginning his student political and service career — an involvement which was to steadily gain momentum thereafter. His always friendly, always enthusiastic manner first amused then enthused those with whom he had contact.

He became Secretary, the Vice President of the Student Government Association. He chaired the Student Affairs Committee, and became increasingly involved in the Campus Union, Chanticleer, Atheneum, Archarios, S.U.W., International Club, and Sigma Phi Epsilon Fraternity. He participated in virtually every College curricular and co-curricular event in some capacity. Seldom did an event happen without his involvement.

His two-year service as an Orientation Assistant interacting with new students centered about an enthusiastic and complete embrace of the College. He recruited heavily for student involvement and participation. He ignited the interest of new students in their new College.

His involvement in the South Carolina State Student Legislature provided him a unique opportunity to blend his interest in political process and his commitment to nature. Current pending legislation in our legislature in behalf of the cause of reptile conservation in our State is a tribute to that commitment. His deep and sincere appreciation of nature underlay much of his classroom involvement and performance. In the classroom, he was multi-faceted — showing great promise as a field naturalist. A five-week Georgia field expedition revealed deep convictions, sensitivity, high energy levels, enthusiasm and motivation.

He was generous to others with his time, his talent, with himself. In a world where the givers are far outnumbered by the takers, he was a giver of the first order. When asked about his motives for his life style, he said repeatedly and simply: "This is my College and I love this place. I want to make it better — better for everyone."

During his lifetime, Todd was fully alive — for he employed his talents effectively and his life was vibrant. He was more concerned with what was going right in his life — and much was going right in his life — and he was less concerned with what was going wrong.

The enthusiasm which characterized his life in its many parts suggests now to us that Todd was mindful of the 39th Psalm: "Lord, help me to realize how brief my time on earth will be. Help me to know that I am here for but a moment more."

There is much silent testimony in our campus community to the enthusiastic presence and commitment of Todd Macneir. Our campus is the richer, and the better, for it. Our memory of his presence is the most powerful of all memorials — and certainly the most lasting.

Dr. Robert W. Squatriglia
Associate Chancellor, Student Development

We meet many people in our lifetime, some good, some bad, many won't lift a finger to help themselves or to help a friend, but occasionally we meet a person who over shadows everyone in their enthusiasm and energy. Todd was such a person. His energy knew no boundaries. He lived every day as a new day with a new challenge. He lived his life to the fullest.

Life is a process, a process that begins with birth and ends with death. When we bury the old, we receive some comfort in the fact that they lived a long and fruitful life, but when someone dies young, we find it hard to understand the reason for this death.

As friends of Todd each of us must seek to understand his death. I am just one voice which must speak for hundreds. To each of us he showed his love differently. Todd was a giver and a believer. He gave his time to all of us. If a job needed to be done, Todd was the one to get it done. He believed in this institution, it was his College. He proved that the students don't just come to class and leave, nor that the faculty just come to teach. Todd proved that we are a family, brother and sister to each.

Todd worked to insure the rights of all students here at Coastal and his death is not an end to his work, but a sign that all of us must carry on his work.

We love you, Todd, and will always remember you and thank you for the help you gave us and for the privilege of knowing and loving you.

Philip Lassen

ME AS A TREE

MY ROOTS HAVE BEEN PLANTED,
SINCE THIS IS MY HOME,
MY BRANCHES ARE REACHING,
FOR SOMEWHERE TO ROAM;

OLD LEAVES ARE BENEATH ME,
AND NEW ONES APPEAR,
THE OLD LEAVES HAVE GUIDED,
THE NEW ONES WILL STEER;

THE WIND BRUSHES PAST ME,
AND CARRIES MY SCENT,
LETTING ON TO THE WORLD,
MY LIFE'S BEEN WELL SPENT.

I know the time has come for me to say good-bye to the editorship of the ATHENEUM and as I write this I am experiencing mixed feelings: pleasure and relief that it is finished; pain and a feeling of loss because I have lived and breathed ATHENEUM for the past two years; and anticipation and fear of how the finished product will look.

Any yearbook is a memory book because you look at it and remember the good and sometimes sad times you have had. A yearbook is made up of a collection of photos, words, and people. And the people who made this book possible will always be in my fondest memories, for we have persevered through endless hours of hard work, late nights, and weekends.

I would like to thank my staff who have made the ATHENEUM a reality. For without you, there would not be a yearbook. Thank you Lisa, Robin, Teri, Cindy, and Sheila for spending all those weekends in the Quad working on the Clubs section. Jamie and Teresa, thanks for getting the sports section together. Vicki the Faculty section turned out just great, it better have since we stayed up all night drawing all those little squares. Also without the help of my photographers Tim, Lisa, William, and Scott, we could not have made it. Thank you! Paula, thanks for doing a little bit of everything from selling ads to drawing quad-paks. Thanks also to Sharon for helping me out with the senior section. John, thanks for doing some photography and giving me valuable advice. To my advisors, Scott Johnson and Veronica Davis, I owe the world and then some for standing behind me.

I also owe a debt of gratitude to numerous people outside the staff itself. I want to thank Dr. Squatriglia and Pat Singleton for pulling me through the hard times and believing in me. To Debbie Citraro and Cheri Callahan, I owe more than just a mere thank you. They have given of their time and energy to help me out of many a tight spot.

I owe a great deal to the media center, they were so helpful in teaching me what I know about photography, thanks Esther, Clyde, and Mack. To Bill Edmonds and Lisa Graham THANK YOU, THANK YOU, THANK YOU, THANK YOU, THANK YOU!!! The majority of photography was either taken or printed by them and without their help this book would not have been a reality.

My sincere appreciation goes to my family, friends, and the people I work with at the Conway National Bank for putting up with an abs and always harried daughter and friend.

Also to Whit Cline, Taylor Publishing representative, thank you for working with us when we went to a two year book.

The 1982-83-84 ATHENEUM is a book about the experiences and happenings of the past two years. A two year ATHENEUM was a new experience for Coastal Carolina College. It all came about because we did not want to lose the memories of the 1982-83 school year when over half of the book got lost in the mail between Coastal and Dallas, Texas. I hope you will cherish this book for it holds 216 pages of memories I will never forget.
